With the Camera, you can take a photo, record a video, or take a square photo

This turns on the self-timer. You can change the length of time in Settings.

You can switch to the back camera (above the keyboard). Useful if taking a picture when using the Chromebook like a tablet.
